INTRODUCTION

The district of Murshidabad is the northern-most district of the Presidency division and lies at its north-eastern boundary.

The district of Murshidabad has been so named after the historic city of Murshidabad on the left bank of the Bhagirathi, which was the last of the Muhammedan capitals in Bengal and the birth place of British empire in India. The town previously was known as Muksudabad.

The district of Murshidabad lies between 23°43' 30" and 24° 50' 20" north latitudes and 88° 46' 00" and 87° 49' 17" east longitudes. It is bounded on the north and the east by the districts of Rajshahi of Bangladesh and Nadia of West Bengal, on the west by the district of Santal Parganas of Bihar and the district of Birbhum and on the south by the districts of Burdwan and Nadia. Extending over an area of 5341 sq. km. the district was inhabited by 3697552 persons of which 1887426 were males and 1810126 females as per census 1981. In terms of population it ranked fourth among the districts of West Bengal while in order of size it held the seventh place. The Scheduled caste and Scheduled tribe population constituted 13.1 and 1.2 percent respectively of the total district population in 1981.

The district comprises four sub-divisions, namely, Jangipur, Lalbagh, Sadar or Berhampore and Kandi. These four sub-divisions cover 21 Police stations.

II

There are 14 towns namely Berhampore, Jangipur, Beldanga, Jiagunj-Azimganj, Kandi, Dhulian Murshidabad, Aurongabad, Lalgola, Farakka Barrage-township, Kashimbazar, Srimantapur, Paschim Punropara and Budharpara. The first seven are municipal towns administered by municipal commissioners and the last seven are non-municipal towns Budharpara being an out growth. The chief town of the district is Berhampore which is the headquarters of the district and of the Sadar Sub-division as well. Murshidabad town is the headquarters of the Lalbagh sub-division.

In the district, the total number of mouzas is 2226 of which 303 are uninhabited.

The district has an appressing summer and profuse rains with humid atmosphere all through the year. Generally the temperature rises from the beginning of March. The day temperature reaches a maximum in April-May. The monsoon breaks normally in the middle of June. January is the coldest month in the year. The average annual rainfall in the district is nearly 1340 milimeters and the maximum rainfall is experienced in July-August.

Two important rivers, the Bhagirathi and the Jalangi flow through the district.

Out of the total population of the district 24.9 percent were literate according to 1981 census. The percentages of literacy among males and females were 32.3 and 17.2 respectively in 1981.

III

Majority of the people of Murshidabad depend on agriculture as their principal source of livelihood. The principal crops in the district are paddy, jute, kalai, khesari, barley, wheat and mustard.

The most important of all the industries of Murshidabad is silk. The silk may be called the queen of fabrics. The demand for shimmering silk is ever growing both from the domestic and outside consumers.

Places of interest in the district

Kashimbazar - It is an old town in the sadar sub-division situated on the east bank of the Bhagirathi about 2 km. from Berhampore. Kashimbazar was a great emporium attracting the trade of lower Bengal and the European nations who treated to India and established factories there.

Beldanga—A non-municipal town and an important cattle market of West Bengal. It is about 16 km. south of Berhampore, the district headquarters.

Jiaganj - Azimganj—A municipal town in the Lalbagh sub-division situated on both bank of the river Bhagirathi. Jiaganj lies at a distance of about 8 km. north of Murshidabad. The famous Mousurganj palace of Nawab Sirajud-Daulah, was situated on the southern out-skirt of the existing town.

IV

Kiriteswari A village in the Lalbagh sub-division, situated on the West of the Bhagirathi, 5 km. West of Murshidabad. The place derives its name from the temple of Kiriteswari, which marks the spot where the crown (kirit) of the Sati fell when she was dismembered by the discus of Vishnu.

Murshidabad - Murshidabad was the capital of Bengal for nearly a century. It is situated on the east bank of the river Bhagirathi, 10 km. north of Berhampore in the Lalbagh sub-division. The town is the administrative headquarters of the Lalbagh sub-division.

The most conspicuous building amongst the buildings and remains at Murshidabad is the palace of the Nawab Bahadur, which stands on the bank of the Bhagirathi. The foundation stone of the building was laid in 1829 and the building was completed in 1837. It is a three storied building surmounted by a dome. The palace itself is called the Barakothi or Hazarduari, the house with thousand doors and the enclosure within which it is situated is known as the Nizamatkila. This contains, in addition to the palace, the largest Imambara in Bengal, the Medina, a clock tower, three mosques and residential and other quarters.
